

Helping Your Leaders Leverage Their Unique Personality

For leaders shaping their teams or working closely with their peers, personality can have a big impact. The Everything DiSC® and Myers-Briggs Type Indicator® assessments have long been leading tools in helping understand how personal preferences and approaches can influence interactions. To deepen the dimension of your leadership development efforts, The Forward Project can integrate personality assessments into workshops and coaching programs to give your teams and individual leaders a fuller picture of their strengths, styles, challenges, and drivers.

Personality-Informed Leadership Development

The Forward Project offers a full range of reports to help clients better understand their work, decision-making, and conflict styles, as well as interaction, communications, and problem-solving approaches. By integrating these insights with emotional intelligence and our behavior-based leadership programs, we can help individuals and teams reach their highest potential.

Leadership Development

Help your team clearly understand their different personality types and how to frame interactions for optimal performance and progress.

Career Advancement

Explore how your personality can help guide your career path by uncovering interests and inclinations that can drive professional success.

Individual Coaching

Find out how to effectively use your dominant and secondary personality types to navigate everyday opportunities and stresses.

Integrating personality into your leadership development can deliver powerful results. The Forward Project is here to help. Contact us today to discuss assessments and opportunities MoveForward@TheForwardProject.co.

The Forward Project designs and develops powerful mindset, emotional intelligence, behavior-based leadership, and team-building training programs that deliver results. Through self- and 360-assessments, workshops, group sessions, facilitation, and one-on-one coaching, we guide teams to understand their existing leadership foundation, build upon their strengths, and consciously develop and practice deeper, more impactful skills. Our goal is to foster the best leadership and enable your company and your team to discover new ways to grow revenues, strengthen your culture, and accelerate your impact.

Myers-Briggs Type Indicator is a trademark or registered trademark of The Myers & Briggs Foundation in the United States and other countries.